

SHREVEPORT

... takes the air!

As Marches PROGRESS So Marches Shreveport. Father Time, that old gentleman upon whom neither man nor nation, tidal waves nor earthquakes, seasons nor cyclones, has influence; marches steadily forward . . . never stopping, ever and ever pressing onward. So, too, marches the progress of Shreveport. So, next Tuesday, July 14, the modern needs of a modern city will be served.

AN INVITATION TO ATTEND THE DEDICATION CEREMONIES

OF THE

MUNICIPAL AIRPORT TUESDAY, JULY 14

11:15 a.m. Until 6 p.m.

The magnificent Shreveport Airport, adequate, conceived and built soundly, is the culmination of another step in the city's and parish's permanent development. By it Shreveport enlarges its opportunities and opens avenues for new standards of prosperity, progress and living. Shreveport invites you to attend the dedication ceremonies Tuesday, July 14, and to inspect this new evidence of Shreveport's desirability as a place for pursuing your business, no matter what its nature, and as a home for delightful living.

Winged Progress

.... in recounting Progress and Development of the past half century none has been more pronounced than the Airplane. This Winged Progress is Definite and Practical!

Atlas Pipe Line Company
B. Hudson Bolinger
Chamber of Commerce

First National Bank
Sparco Gasoline Co.
J. B. Atkins, President

Herrin Transfer & Warehouse Company